Skills and experience

David Dempsey is a retired Senior Vice President and former Country Leader and General Manager at Salesforce Ireland, a code-based software computer company with 3,000+ employees in Ireland.

David was one of the Co-founders of Salesforce EMEA, bringing Salesforce to Europe in 2000. Under his leadership the EMEA division of Salesforce has grown from a three person Irish start up to a pan European business with offices across Europe with more than 17,000 employees across the continent.

David is passionate about the impact which business can make on society and was actively involved as an advisor to Salesforce EMEA's sustainability, inclusion and impact investing focus and initiatives.

Additionally, he serves as Chair of the South East Offshore Wind Energy Taskforce. A certified member of the Institute of Directors, David has previously held senior executive positions in Oracle in the UK and Ireland.

He has an MBA (2005) and DBA (2015) from Waterford Institute of Technology.
